Note: the following information was received from Carole's older sister, Pat Petrillose Clark

Carole Jean Petrillose Krause Cincotta died August 6, 2006 at her home in Boston, Massachusetts. Her death was caused by complications from a virulent respiratory infection. Her ashes were scattered in the North Atlantic off the Boston harbor as she requested. Friends and family attended the ceremony. Carole carved a career in health services using her degree in clinical psychology; first as a service provider, later in supervisory positions. Remember her charm and her love of fun.
